JAPANESE CEMENT.

For mending China, Glass, Bone, Ivory, Crockery, Wood, etc., it has no equal, as hot water or soap suds does not affect it. It will stand hot water, something that all other similar cements fail to do.

PRICE, 25 CENTS.

DIRECTIONS.—Moisten both edges of the article to be mended with the cement and press firmly together and place in position until it becomes dry.

To all whom it may concern: I have used the Japanese Cement sold by Mr. Kolb, and find it an invaluable article to have in the house. Some pieces of dishes and glass mended by this Cement have been in daily use, washed in hot water and rinsed in hot water without injury to the cement.
MRS. D. S. SAMPSEL.

Mr. W. McClellan says: During my time in the drug store, and of all the different cements I handled and sold, none will compete with the Japanese Cement sold by Mr. Kolb.

To whom it may concern: We have used the Japanese Cement sold by Mr. Kolb, and find it an invaluable article to have in the house. Some pieces of dishes and glass were mended by this cement and have been in daily use and never came apart.
DR. J. A. HISEY.
